

VIGOROUS LANGUAGE USED BY INSPECTOR

Report on Sheriff Potter's Office Made This Morning.

Sheriff Owes The Tax Payers $2,158.60--Other Amounts Due The State and County.

Frankfort, Ky., March 28.—State Inspector Henry B. Hines' report, filed today, shows Sheriff Lee Potter to be owing to the state, county and individual tax payers, $3,197.62 for 1903 and 1904.

This discrepancy, which the sheriff says he will pay at once, is due to the collection of taxes on property which he listed after the assessor's books were given into his hands, and which he did not report on.

The amount owed to individual tax-payers for 1903 and 1904, is $2,158.60, which was collected in excess of what was due from them.

There are about 1,500 tax payers who are due this sum, the greater part of which was collected on property exempt under law from taxation.

The sheriff is indebted to the county for 1903 in the sum of $677.87 on two counts on poll taxes, and on property taxes listed and collected by him.

He is due the county for 1904, on poll taxes listed by him and not reported, in the sum of $519.

The sheriff has until the next meeting of fiscal court of the county, to settle the amount owed by him.

There is further due the state from Sheriff Potter $132.15 on account of property listed by him, and on the collection of taxes on which he failed to report.

The report of the inspector contains several hundred pages, setting up the names of individual tax payers to whom the sheriff is indebted in various amounts for 1903 and 1904.

Later he will make an investigation of alleged irregularities for 1902.

The report is couched in vigorous language concerning the irregularities discovered in the sheriff's books and his method of conducting the office.

Inspector Hines says that he found the sheriff's office "Conducted in such a manner as would indicate that persons in charge of said office are either dishonest or wholly incompetent and grossly ignorant of the law governing the collection of taxes."

The amount over-collected from individuals is in sums ranging from ten cents to ten dollars. The inspector also finds that the sheriff is indebted to thousands of persons in sums ranging from one cent to ten cents, overcharges for the years 1903 and 1904, aggregating for the two years about $157.42. He also finds that the sheriff is entitled to $82.70 which he failed to collect from property owners for 1903.

Sheriff Potter contends that the assessor's books were so made up and arranged that he could not tell whether to collect from the total amount or from the total amount after deducting the exemptions.

Meeting this, Inspector Hines says: "After an examination of the books of the assessor I cannot concur in this contention." The reports sets out the names of every individual tax payer in McCracken county who is entitled to recover money from the sheriff.

Sheriff Potter has notified Inspector Hines that he will at once pay to the state, county of McCracken and individuals the amount due as shown by his report.

NO FIGHTING IS REPORTED

May Cut Off Retreat.

St. Petersburg, March 28.—The greatest uneasiness has been caused here by news from the front. Reports which come through Chinese sources state that the Japanese forces are being pushed rapidly towards the northwest. Should the Japanese be able to reach Tsitsihar, Linivitch's communication will be cut off and he will find the Japanese army barring his retreat back to Siberia.

Rioting Continues.
St. Petersburg, March 28.—The rioting in the southern provinces continues and the whole peasant population is affected. A state bordering on civil war exists, and the population is armed for a collision with soldiers.

The Peace Question.
London, March 28.—The Daily Telegraph this morning editorially returns to the subject of peace negotiations and the question of the common interests of Great Britain, Japan and the United States in the far east.

The newspaper thinks that though such a triple alliance is eminently desirable, the Monroe doctrine would prevent America from allying herself.

Sheriff W. W. Holland Gets Five Years.

Benton, Ky., March 28.—The jury in the case against Sheriff W. W. Holland, of Murray, Calloway county, returned a verdict this morning shortly after 11 o'clock, finding the defendant guilty of manslaughter and fixing his punishment at five years in the penitentiary. The jury got the case at 5 p. m. yesterday.

Sheriff Holland did not appear to be much affected, and court adjourned so the attorneys for the defense could prepare their papers for a new trial.

Reasons were immediately filed for a new trial and Judge Eli Brown, of Owensboro, is expected to decide the motion as soon as possible. Court has been going on a couple of weeks and he is anxious to return home. If he overrules the motion an appeal will be taken and today's verdict does not by any means indicate that the fight is anything near over.

Sheriff Holland was tried for killing Hardy Keys. Both were prominent men in Calloway. One night when there was a political meeting in the sheriff's office, it was claimed Keys was found eavesdropping, and when invited in by Sheriff Holland, a quarrel started which ended in a tragedy. Keys is alleged to have had a knife, while Holland used his pistol.

Keys' friends always denied that the knife found near the body belonged to him, and that it was put there to give Holland a defense.

The sheriff was acquitted by the coroner's jury but was later indicted by the grand jury.

A change of venue was taken to Marshall county, and this is the first verdict that was ever rendered in the case.

MRS. CHADWICK GETS 10 YEARS IN PRISON

Was Sentenced in Federal Court Yesterday Afternoon.

Judge Taylor Denied Her Motion For a New Trial—She Was Bewil-

MADE NO PROTEST, HOWEVER.

Cleveland, O., March 28.—Judge Taylor, in the United States district court yesterday afternoon, overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of Cassie L. Chadwick and at once sentenced her to ten years' imprisonment.

Mrs. Chadwick was convicted on seven counts and sentenced upon six. For four of these counts a sentence of two years each was imposed. Upon two a sentence of one year each was imposed.

As soon as sentence was pronounced Attorney Dawley, counsel for Mrs. Chadwick, took exceptions to the sentence upon each count except the first. The defense intends to make the claim that the court cannot impose separate sentence for each count, that the law applied to the general charge instead of each incident of a general charge. The various counts of the indictments are considered by the defense to refer only to the details of the general offense. This point will also be contested in the higher court as will other points of the Chadwick trial which resulted in her conviction.

Mrs. Chadwick was not particularly affected by the action of the court today, as seemingly she had resigned herself to any action that might be taken. When she was told the motion for a new trial had been refused she merely nodded her head as if she already knew, though she is so hard of hearing she could not have known what words the court uttered.

When ordered to stand up and receive sentence Mrs. Chadwick did not hear and was assisted to her feet by Deputy United States Marshal Clobitz. The court asked her if she had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced. She looked around in bewilderment. She was not certain of what was taking place and had not the slightest idea of what the court said. She was led forward nearer the bench and the court shouted the question. She then understood.

Mrs. Chadwick said there was nothing she cared to say for herself. Her attorneys made no appeal to the court and sentence was immediately imposed.

Counsel for Mrs. Chadwick will leave for Cincinnati tonight to ask the circuit court of appeals to reverse Judge Taylor and grant their client a new trial and also stay of execution sentence.

PROMINENT DOCTOR KILLED IN MAYFIELD

Lived Only a Few Moments—Has Two Daughters in Paducah Who Left For Mayfield.

SHELF BROKE, CAUSED FALL.

Dr. H. C. McFall, one of the oldest and most prominent residents of Mayfield, Graves county, fell from a window this morning and died a short time later. He was step-father of Mrs. Arch Sutherland, wife of the well known shoe merchant, of Paducah, and father of Mrs. Daisy Winfrey, a teacher of music in the public schools here.

Dr. McFall formerly practiced dentistry in Mayfield, but on account of ill health had retired. This morning about 10:30 o'clock he was in the Crossly photograph gallery, leaning on a shelf that projected outside the window for placing frames containing photographs to be printed.

The shelf was a frail affair, supported mainly by broom wires, and while Dr. McFall was leaning out with his arms on it, smoking his pipe, the shelf gave way and he fell headlong to the pavement.

A number of people ran to his assistance, but he lived less than half an hour.

Dr. McFall was 60 years old, and not in good health. The fall was fully twenty feet, and the way he fell was sufficient to have killed most any person in more robust health.

Dr. McFall was a Tennessean by birth, age 63, and had been living in Mayfield over thirty years. He was a Confederate veteran and fought with honors in the Civil war. He leaves a wife besides his daughter, and step daughter. The latter left this afternoon for Mayfield to attend the funeral.

Rockefeller to the American board of foreign missions, of the Congregational church at Height, nearly half the sum has already been accepted and is now in the treasury of the mission board. Dr. Barton, of the board, says the acceptance of so much of the gift makes the acceptance of the balance necessary.

The oath was administered by Chief Justice Beard of the state supreme court, in the senate chamber and in the presence of both houses of the legislature. ATROCIOUS DEED OF DEPRAVED MOTHER

Mrs. Brockwell's Confession Implicates George Albritton.

Tells How She Made Them Drink the Poison---Will Plead Insanity.

The poisoning of the three little daughters of Mrs. Mary Brockwell, of Ashbrook avenue, Mechanicsburg, and the mother's confession yesterday afternoon that she administered morphine in coal oil for the purpose of getting rid of them, have created the most profound sensation that Paducah has known in many a year.

Feeling is bitter in some respects against the cruel, inhuman mother, and against the man she alleges influenced her to take the lives of her own children. But this is a community that believes in letting the law take its course in such matters, and there has never been the slightest danger of mob violence, despite the reports that have been circulated freely to the contrary; neither was there ever the slightest necessity for thinking of sending the two prisoners away for safe keeping.

Excitement has now about died out, even in the locality where the crime was committed. The mother's story about the man persuading her to poison the children is believed by many but not by everyone. He may have told her that she had to get rid of three of the children before he would marry her and take care of her, but it is doubtful if he advised her to poison them.

One theory is that when he made his proposition to marry her if she got rid of the three children she made several ineffectual attempts to get the children into the Home of the Friendless, and finally failing, decided in a fit of desperation to poison them.

It is likely that the woman's plea will be temporary insanity. She will no doubt find many to believe she is crazy, for her act was so atrociously unnatural and heartless that many people cannot conceive how any mother clothed in her right mind could have steeled herself up to the point of committing it. And it is not understood how a mother in her right mind would have committed the deed in such a bungling manner, and then afterwards confessed to it.

But her defense will no doubt be insanity. Today the jail has been visited by many people anxious to get a glimpse of the prisoners.

A picture of the woman was taken this morning, but George Albritton, her alleged accomplice, declined to pose. The woman seems to take the whole awful affair with stolid, ignorant indifference.

She is the first white woman arrested in McCracken county for murder in many a year. It is not known just exactly for how long, as no record of the last one tried could be found at the court house.

Deputy Clerk Kidd, however, remembers when a white woman was tried and acquitted—years ago of a murder charge. Judge Randall was circuit judge and Attorney Sam Crossland commonwealth's attorney. As her name could not be recalled the year of the trial could not consequently be ascertained. She was the last ever tried here.

The Trial.

From present indications the trial of both Mrs. Brockwell and Albritton will not be held before Monday, certainly not before Friday, the detectives asking for that much time in getting up all evidence.

Mrs. Brockwell and Albritton have been the object of much curiosity and hundreds have visited the jail today to see them.

Others Implicated.

The authorities announce this morning that they have investigated the woman's reputation and character and say she is unchaste and had been leading an immoral life. They have the names of other men who admit they had been calling on the woman. These men will all be brought into court and every particle of evidence possible to secure introduced.

To review the case briefly, Mrs. Brockwell, the wife of Plenny Brockwell, a farmer originally, but of late a mill hand, who is now in the asylum, who has been struggling since the absence of her husband to support her family of four children. She lived in a two-room house at 337 Ashbrook avenue, and took in washing. From time to time she had a boarder and among them was George Albritton, whom she implicates in her written confession in the murder of her little ones. Friday evening directly after supper when two men called in to see her, the children became ill and Dr. Carl N. Sears was summoned. He called Dr. J. W. Pendley in consultation, and later Drs. J. S. Troutman and Johnston Bass were called. All three of the children were found to be poisoned, but too far gone for the doctors to do any good, death resulting within fourteen hours, the last dying about 8 o'clock Saturday morning. It was claimed by the mother that cabbage containing poison had been sold her and all cabbage of the lot she bought from was taken and cut open for analysis. Theory after theory was advanced and the stomachs of the dead children had in the meantime been taken to Louisville for an analysis.

Detectives T. J. Moore and Will Baker were put on the case and worked incessantly, their efforts finally being crowned Monday afternoon by a voluntary confession from Mrs. Brockwell. She was placed in a cab immediately after the confession, brought to the county jail and locked up.

The Confession.

Detectives Moore and Baker, who secured the confession from the mother, worked hard on the case. Mrs. Brockwell finally broke down under the strain and admitted all. "I killed my children because I could not take care of them and saw no way out of it. I had been boarding George Albritton and he promised me if I got rid of three of my children, he would marry me," she told the detective, "but I did not consider the matter at first. My father-in-law, Pink Brockwell, of near Gilbertsville, Marshall county, has come to the city several times of late and threatened my life, and this, with the leaving of Albritton, who contributed by his payment of board to the support of myself and little ones, completely upset me, and after he had been away more than two weeks, I saw he did not intend returning unless I did away with three of my little ones, and so I gave them morphine. I bought the drug at Vize's drug store about 2 o'clock in the afternoon on Friday, securing ten cents worth from Dr. Vize, the proprietor, and we ate supper about 5:30. Directly after supper my little ones be-

WEAK KIDNEYS

To any Kidney sufferer who has not tried my remedy I offer the full dollar worth free. Not a mere sample—but a regular dollar bottle—standard size and staple.

There is nothing to pay, either now or later. I ask no deposit—no promise. You take no risk. The dollar bottle is free—because mine is no ordinary remedy, and I feel so sure of its results that I can afford to make this offer.

In the first place, my remedy does not treat the kidneys themselves. Such treatment is wrong. For the kidneys are not to blame for their weakness or irregularities. They are operated and actuated by a tiny shred of a nerve which alone is responsible for their condition. If the kidney nerve goes wrong you know it by the inevitable result—kidney trouble.

This tender nerve is only one of a great system of nerves this system controls not only the kidneys, but the heart and the liver and the stomach. For simplicity's sake I have called this great nerve system the "Inside Nerve." They are not the nerves of feeling—not the nerves that enable you to walk, to talk, to act, to think. They are the master nerves and every vital organ is their slave. The common name for these nerves is the sympathetic nerve because each set is in such close sympathy with the others, that weakness anywhere results in weakness everywhere.

This is why I treat not the kidney that is weak, but the ailing nerve that MAKES it weak. This is the secret of my success. This is why I can afford to do this unusual thing—to give away FREE the full dollar bottle, that ANY STRANGER may know how my remedy succeeds.

The offer is open to everyone, everywhere, who has not tried my remedy. Those who have tried it do not need the evidence. So you must write ME for the free dollar bottle. I will then send you an order on your druggist for a full dollar bottle, standard size and staple. He will send it down to you from his stock as free as though your dollar lay before him and will send the bill to me.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative
In Alaska even dogs wear shoes—at least part of the time. It is not on account of the cold, for a shaggy Esquimaux dog will live and be frisky when a man would freeze to death! The dog does all the work of dragging and carrying, which in the country falls to the horses, and in trotting over the rough ice of the mountain passes, his feet soon become bruised and sore. Then his driver makes him soft little moccasins of buckskin or reindeer skin, and ties them on with stout thongs of leather. In this way he will travel easily, until his feet are thoroughly healed up; then he bites and tears his shoes with his sharp wolf-like teeth, and eats them up.

Wonderful animals are these dogs of Alaska. Although they are only little fellows—not more than half the size of a big Newfoundland—they sell from $75 to $200 each, more than an ordinary morse will sell for in this country. They will draw two hundred pounds each on a sled, and they are usually driven in teams of six. They need no lines to guide them for they readily obey the sound of their master's voice, turning or stopping at a word.

But the Esquimaux dogs have their faults. Like many boys, they are over fond of having good things to eat. Consequently they have to be watched closely, or they will attack and devour stores left in their way, especially bacon, which must be hung out of their reach. At night when camp is pitched, the moment a blanket is thrown upon the ground they will run into it and curl up, and neither cuffs nor kicks suffice to budge them. They lie as close to the men who own them as possible, and the miner cannot wrap himself so close that they won't get under the blanket with him. They are human, too, in their disinclinations to get out in the morning.—New England Farmer.

GOOD NEWS.

Nortonville Coal Better Than Much of That in Pennsylvania.
Local owners of the Nortonville coal mines today received good news. It was in the form of an expert analysis of new and old coal veins, and it means a great thing for Western Kentucky.

The analysis of the Nortonville coal shows:
Moisture and volatile matter, 45.00 per cent.
Ash, 4.20 per cent.
Sulphur, .24 per cent.
Fixed carbon, 50.56 per cent.
Total 100.00 per cent.
The analysis adds that the coal is superior for gas and coke to that of the noted Pennsylvania field.

Reported Effort to Wreck a Train Unfounded.

Mr. W. T. Dinneen, special agent for the Louisville division of the I. C., is in the city today and stated this morning that the report saying an attempt had been made to wreck train No. 104 was erroneous as no attempt had been made.

A cow was struck on Island Creek trestle by a freight train preceding the arrival of the fast train at that bridge, and some supposed that the cow was placed on the track to wreck the train.

Fifteen feet of rope was found about the cow's neck and Mr. Dinneen stated he found the bovine wandered off a pasture nearby and tried to cross the trestle, getting caught between the ties and unable to extricate herself.

SAD CASE.

Father Tells a Lie to Get Food for His Family.

Officer Henry Singery this morning reported a family in destitute circumstances.

It is the family of John Bragg, white, a former section hand on the I. C. who lives at 608 Goebel avenue, and whose wife and two children are ill and unable to be up, and Bragg is without work.

Last night after remaining hungry for several days, Bragg went to the grocery store of Pete Biehon, on South Fourth street, and purchased some groceries and food, alleging he was working at a certain place and would pay for the stuff in a few days. It was subsequently learned that he was idle and a warrant was issued.

When Officer Singery went to make the arrest he found no bed in the small house and nothing but a

BISHOP COMING

HE WILL VISIT PADUCAH ON THURSDAY, APRIL 6.

Many People Are Very Anxious to See the New Bishop.

Rev. David C. Wright, rector of Grace Episcopal church, has received word from the Right Reverend Chas. E. Woodcock, bishop of Kentucky, that he will be in this city on Thursday, April 6, and will administer the rites of confirmation to the class at Grace church that evening. The class is quite a large one.

The coming of Bishop Woodcock will be an event of more than usual interest, as it is his first visit to Paducah. He has made a most agreeable impression in Louisville and elsewhere, and is said to be a most impressive and able speaker. He was first expected the 26th of March, but was compelled to postpone his visit until April, on account of illness.

Bishop Woodcock will be the guest of Rev. and Mrs. D. C. Wright at the rectory on Kentucky avenue.

THE REVIVAL.

Large Crowds Continue to Attend
—Many Professions.

The services at the First Christian church continue with increasing interest. There was the largest week-night audience last night of any night in the meeting, and the singing was spirited. A large number of song books arrived yesterday for use in the meeting and everyone who attends the meeting will be supplied with a book.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendall's work is a unique feature of the revival. They are specialists in evangelistic work, and are prepared to do anything that there is to be done in a great meeting. They are both ordained ministers and preach and exhort as well as sing. Mr. Kendall preached at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon and Mrs. Kendall preached to the women this afternoon at the church.

The preaching every night is by the pastor, Rev. W. H. Pinkerton, who has been preaching to this congregation for 12 years. It is remarkable that he continues to interest such large numbers of people. His sermons are always direct appeals and always teach the power of being in touch with God.

The sermon last night was The Battle of Life as illustrated in the life of David. First his battle with Goliath and second, his battle with a bear and third his battle with himself.

Wednesday night is a special meeting for railroad men. Wednesday during the noon hour Mr. Pinkerton and Mr. Kendall will hold services in the Illinois Central shops.

Meetings will continue each night during this week at 7:30. The illustrated songs come the first thing so it is necessary to be at the meeting early.

Light literature is expensive when it comes in the shape of gas bills.

BASEBALL DOPE.

The schedules will probably be out by Saturday.

There is talk of Rutledge, formerly of Cairo, catching for Hopkinsville this season.

Manager Griffith, of the New York Americans, is contemplating working Holycross at first base and in the outfield, according to a dispatch in the St. Louis Sporting News.

The Buffalo management has cut the salaries of several Buffalo players. Among them is "King" Brockett. The Buffalo Times says: "Catcher 'Shoddy' Shaw and Leftfielder Joe Delchanty have not signed yet, refusing to abide by the salary cut and Fitcher Brockett, at last reports, was missing for the same reason."

Charley Street was a private in the First Alabama volunteers during the Spanish-American war and has admits that he spent most of his term of enlistment in the guard house. Cliff Blankenship belonged to a Georgia regiment. Street's tales of military life are thrilling and humorous. His version of the salute of the private to the officer amused a crowd of civilians. "I'm your dog!" is the way the salutation of the underling struck Street, and the officers reply was akin to "I know it!" Cincinnati Post.

Though it is not certain that Hopkinsville will continue in the K. I. T. league it is probable that the Browns will be in the fight for the pennant. At the directors' meeting Saturday night the subscription lists were short between $300 and $400 of the amount needed to insure a team. However, it is the opinion of the magnates that a little harder and more systematic work on the part of the solicitors would raise the guarantee. —Hopkinsville New Era.

Manager Harry Lloyd is better, having about recovered from his chill Sunday night.

Potts, the famous second baseman, has arrived from Nashville and has gone into training for the season with the Indians. Potts is about the surest man on the team, and the fans are glad to see him back. On account of the stiffness of the new players little can be told about them and when they get into good playing shape can be rightfully judged.

Doyle, the pitcher from St. Louis, who came here with Vahrenhorst, has "jumped" Paducah. He was not sent a ticket by Lloyd, but came to try out and did not stay. He evidently thought the company too fast.

Tomorrow the second exhibition game will be played between Toledo and Paducah. Lloyd has his entire team here now and will place them in the position he expects to play them.

DAUGHTER ILL.

Mr. M. L. Riley Called to St. Louis by Bad News.

Mr. M. L. Riley, the photographer, was last evening called to St. Louis by the critical illness of his little daughter, Neva. Mrs. Riley and daughter left Paducah last Thursday with the St. Louis excursion crowd to visit Mrs. Riley's sister, Mrs. Ferguson, and Friday the little girl became ill and pneumonia has developed. She is about 12 or 13 years old, and an unusually bright, popular girl.

SHOULD WORK TOGETHER.
The telephone, trolley, railroad and rural delivery have made the interests of the city and county very similar. Today hundreds of residents of the county get their daily paper and keep as closely in touch with the events of the world as do the city folk. They understand, or are beginning to, that what is good for the city is often good for the county, and what is good for the county is good for the city. About eight-tenths of the taxes paid in the county are paid by property owners of Paducah. This, if nothing else, should make each strive to help the other. The farmers of the county should want good roads because they use the roads more than anyone else, and the people of the city should desire them because it promotes trade, and because they are paying over half of the county taxes, and know that it is to their interest to have the money well spent. The people of the city desire to see the roads improved permanently, because out of the $20,000 or $25,000 a year spent in "working" the dirt roads, they pay the greater portion.

The Commercial club's idea of organizing throughout the county is therefore one that promises much good. It will cement the city and county into friendly co-operation for each other's good, and in helping one, each will be helping the other.
This theory has been proven in Davies county, where the city of Owensboro and the county proper are working hard for the pection as a whole. How much has been done is thus told in the Owensboro Messenger:

"The present and the past year have done more to cement the city of Owensboro and the county of Davies outside of Owensboro than any recent decade of time. This is as it should be and the good work should be continued." The county is a unit and the city is in every sense a necessary and important part of the unity. It is the heart of the integral district. The radiating good roads are what are needed to perfect the circulatory system between the city and the country. They are in every true sense the arteries connected with the heart and carrying the enriching exchange of commerce to every part of the county and from every part of the county to the city.
The physiological comparison need not be extended to the veins, for there should be no provision for the vitiated or worn out circulating matter.

"The freeing of the gravel roads cost and is still costing the city more than the county outside of the city, but there is no complaint over this fact by the city people, and yet the city has gained less by their freeing than has the county or at least parts of the county. The building of the permanent rock roads will also cost the city more, but the city, also, will be the gainer.

"In fact it is ever thus, as some economists teach, the good of one is the good of all, as also it may safely be said that what is an injury to one is an injury to all. It is because of these patent truths and this teaching that the great harmony of recent months in all of Davies county, and especially between the country part of Davies county and the city part,
is proving so gratifying and beneficial.

"Just now there is peace and progress and improvement along safe and gratifying lines and everyone should desire to have this most salutary condition to continue."

The Paducah police department is to be congratulated on the excellent work of its plain clothes men. When they were first put to work, few expected that much could be accomplished by plain clothes men, but all have been agreeably surprised.
The two detectives have done fine work, and should be given credit for it. Chief Collins always contended that the city should have plain clothes detectives, but it was several years before he could induce the general council to agree with him. The results have fully justified his every expectation. These officers are not easily recognized as officers, they have as much authority as any other police officer, have nothing to do but work on some particular case or cases when they are assigned, and do not have as a side line to attend to a mile or more of beats, as the regular patrolmen must do. The plain clothes men are well worth their cost to the city.

It seems about time some of the contracts for street improvements were let in Paducah. There is a vast amount of work to do, the money is on hand to pay for it, and there should be no unnecessary delay.

It is reported that the big game in Colorado is already emigrating in anticipation of the president's visit.
The beef trust has had a longer time than that, however, and couldn't get away.

The newspapers seem a great deal more anxious for the war in the east to end than the combatants.

Possibly Castro has been reading about little Japan and imagining he can turn the trick himself.

The next sheriff should be a man well up in the three R's, especially the "rithmetic.

THE SCHOOL BOARD CAN SELL AT $22,500

Representatives of Capitalists Want Option on School.

Met Committee Last Night, But the Trustees Were Instructed to $25,000.

WANT OFFICE BUILDING SITE.

A party of eastern capitalists represented in Paducah by Messrs. Chas.
K. Wheeler and W. P. Hummel, last night submitted a proposition to a special committee appointed from the board of education to take an option on the school property at Kentucky avenue and Fifth streets for 30 days, but on account of the amount being insufficient the committee turned it down and refused to grant the option.

At the last regular meeting of the school board the committee, consisting of Trustees Harry F. Williamson, E. Farley, Arch Sutherland Joe Mattison, Louis Petter and B. T. Davis, was instructed not to sell the school property at less than $25,000, and the amount mentioned by Messrs.
Wheeler and Hummel was only $22,- 500. The committee did not feel that it should give an option at this

It is understood the capitalists want to erect a big office building on the property, which is admirably located for such a purpose. The property runs 160 feet on the Kentucky avenue side and 147½ on the Fifth street side, making a big piece of property.

The board will act on the matter of granting the option, which still holds, at the next meeting, but the board members do not think the board will agree to sell at a price lower than $25,000.

VERY LIBERAL

PEOPLE HAVE DONATED TO-WARDS FUNERAL.

Already Quite a Near Sum Has Been Given—All Funds Are Acceptable For This Purpose.

The public has responded liberally to the appeal made yesterday in the Sun for contributions to defray the funeral expenses of the three little Brockwell children who were poisoned by their mother. Coroner Jas.
Crow, who first suggested the plan, was handed by various persons over $15 in a short time today, and the Sutherland Medicine company's employees started the list at the Sun office by contributing $5.50. Many came in and left money and did not desire their names known, and none of those who gave Coroner Crow money cared to have it published.

Messrs. John Dye and Jack Sheehan, of the Southside, yesterday began taking contributions, and today have over $50. All who desire to do so may leave money at the Sun office or take it to Coroner Crow or the above named gentlemen.

An effort is on foot to give the children a nice funeral, probably Sunday. All money donated in excess of the expenses will be well spent. It is likely that all money will be turned over to the Charity club, and let it arrange a fitting funeral.

This afternoon it was decided to have the funeral tomorrow morning at the Broadway Methodist church at 10 o'clock, burial at Oak Grove,

KING DOFFS HIS CROWN TO BECOME PILOT

San Francisco, Cal., March 27.—
The voice of the man who would rather be right than be president can be heard in the land during any political campaign. His name is Helene, in all the world wide, however, there is probably but one man who would rather be pilot than potentate; only one king who has doffed crown for an oilskin hat and whose fingers have released their grip of a scepter to grasp the spokes of a steering wheel. His name is Kalanivahinekonkua, and in Tahiti, where he now lives, they call him "Cap" for short. The story of the royal pilot came up on the Mariposa.

"Cap" was the ruler of the island of Otafu. From deep sea on the north to deep sea on the south, from western to eastern extremity of the little kingdom, he was monarch of all, overlord to a host of chocolate colored subjects, and husband of all the dusky brides he cared to claim.
He had first whack at the revenue derived from the sale of the island's coconut palm in the land, and in all councils, at every social function, Kalanivahinekonkua was "it."

The pomps and vanity of court etiquette wearied the monarch. He longed to do something. According to Capt. Lawless, of the liner Mariposa, he is now doing it.

A few weeks ago the king of Otafu laid down his scepter, hove his bol-der plate crown into the surf, kissed his brides good-bye, jumped aboard the flagship of his navy and paddled to Tahiti.

Vice Consul Ducarron at Papeete
Helene, which makes a weekly trip from Papeete to Morea and back.
Morea is twelve miles away. The Helene leaves Papeete at 6 a. m., and, although her stay at Morea is brief, it is usually after 10 p. m. before she gets back. The Helene is something of a marine curiosity. In class she ranks somewhere between a teakettle and a churn, resembling not a little the Cordelia Heald of local fame. To Vice Consul Ducarron Kalanivahinekonkua applied for a job and was appointed pilot of the Helene at $12.00 a month.

With his kingdom he lost his name. He is now plain "Cap." Passengers board the steamer by a gangway laid over her stern, and at the head off the plank "Cap" receives them with royal dignity.
When sailing times comes he pulls the gangplank on board, notifies the engineer, takes the wheel, and, with more pride than he ever felt on Otafu, steers the Helene out of the harbor and keeps her nose pointing for Morea until that port is safely reached. The Helene carries the French mail.

ligion will soon have none that any one could find.

STAR STEAM LAUNDRY

Theatrical Notes

The success, "Running For Office," in which the Four Cohans were seen last season, which emanated from the pen of that clever member of this famous family, George H. Cohan, is to be the offering to our theatre-goers on tomorrow, matinee and night.

Miss Hazel Lowry, with "Running for Office" at The Kentucky Wednesday Matinee and Night.

The author of this musical frivolity, as he terms it, George Cohan, and Sam H. Harris, are responsible for placing this successful play on the road, with a company of reputation for its portrayal. They have spared no expense to retain the features which made this play so great a drawing card. A matinee will be given at a great expense, to demonstrate what a great attraction is "Running For Office."

Tim Murphy, whom every theatre-goer knows and appreciates as a comedian of the very highest class, is to appear here at the Kentucky on Saturday night in "When a Man Marries," a comedy by A. C. Bishop, relating a story of matrimonial entanglements that has been unqualifiedly accepted everywhere as one of the real "treasures" of the present season and which is said to be one of the most amusing comedies Tim Murphy has ever possessed. The return of the artist brings one of the most popular entertainers of his generation. Reiteration of excellence is the key note to this actor's fame, and each visit he makes brings with it every gratification that an artist's worth could bestow upon his many admirers.

At the conclusion of Miss Lulu Glaser's tour in "A Madcap Princess" in May, she will sail for Europe for an extended vacation. Most of it will be spent near Aosta, the romantic little city in the northern part of Italy situated at the foot of the Alps.

"To what do you attribute your present popularity?" Bernard Shaw was asked.

"To my merits," was the brief answer.

The Booth Tarkington play "The Gentleman From Indiana," will not be seen anymore this season. The piece has not scored as heavily as

MISS MARY STONE, Milwaukee, Wis.

Do You Need Bracing Up?

No other tonic in the world is like Paine's Celery Compound; no other remedy takes so simple and scientific a way to perform its wonders.

Paine's Celery Compound acts directly upon the nerves, feeding them Nature's nerve food—celery—filling them with new vitality. Through the nerves it acts upon the blood, purifying it, strengthening it, making it pure and strong and red and healthy. No other remedy purifies so gently and so quickly.

Paine's Celery Compound is the one known prescription that purifies without purging or weakening the system in any way.

If you feel "run down," "used up," nervous, tired,—in other words, if you need bracing up, try Paine's Celery Compound.

Learn the full luxury and delight of being always at your best, able to live your life for all that is in it.

Feel the exultant thrill of pure, rich blood and abundant Nerve Force, made by Paine's Celery Compound.

Paine's Celery Compound gives real Nerve Force, instead of the false activity imparted by mere stimulants. It is the best and quickest nerve tonic.

Tired, weak-nerved, thin-blooded, unhappy men and women get quick, sure, hearty health from this celebrated Nerve Vitalizer and Tonic. It drives away lassitude, gives courage and strength. It makes a rich increase in blood supply, and makes the whole system thrill with hearty health.

Miss Mary Stone, Secretary of the Young People's Christian Temperance Society of Milwaukee, tells her experience after feeling "run down" for months:

We have used Paine's Celery Compound in our family for a number of years and a few months ago when I felt so worn out and run down that I thought I would have to give up my work and take a vacation earlier, mother suggested that I try a couple of bottles of Celery Compound. A few doses made me feel quite different, my appetite increased, I began to sleep well at night and felt rested in the morning. In a very short time I felt like a different being and am glad to say that your medicine made it possible for me to continue my work uninterruptedly. Yours very truly,—Miss Mary Stone, 2621 Lisbon Ave., Milwaukee, Wis. Secretary Young People's Christian Temperance Society.

Try Paine's Celery Compound YOURSELF when you feel exhausted—when you grow tired sooner than you should—when you lose patience with the irritating cares of daily life—when you feel that your hopes and ambitions are not as high as they used to be—when you spend a sleepless night—when you get up almost as weary as when you went to bed—when you are worried—when the tired feeling puts its heavy touch upon you. That is when you need the new Nerve Force, the good blood and fresh vitality that is given by PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

Don't wait. Try Paine's Celery Compound to-day.

Take just one dose when you go to face the hard part of the day's trials. See how much better you feel.

See how much more easily the trials roll away. Two days' treatment with Paine's Celery Compound will give proof of its marvelous powers.

For 18 years this famous prescription has been the most universally used tonic in the world. It has stood the test of time. Physicians constantly use and prescribe it. No prescription has ever been formulated that equaled it in curative power.

Remember this—Paine's Celery Compound is the prescription of one of the most famous physicians this country has ever known, and all reputable Druggists sell and recommend it.

The actress will continue to the Pacific coast, presenting "Sweet Little Bellairs" will return to New York, where Mr. Belasco will find another player for the title role. It was rumored last week that Bertha Garland would be the one chosen, but this has been officially denied.

Olga Nethersole will return to this country next fall and will present a new play in addition to her former success.

A son of Gabriele d'Annunzio has been engaged for a dramatic company, which next April will play at Milan a new drama by the elder d'Annunzio, called "The Light Under a Bushel." The occasion will mark the son's first appearance on the stage.

Virginia Harned is to have a new play next season by Henry Arthur Jones. The actress will offer "The Lady Shore" at the Hudson theatre, New York, next week.

Frank F. Miller, Blanche Olga

Bryan and their clever associate players known as The Miller-Bryan Co., will play an engagement of two nights and two matinees at The Kentucky, commencing with a matinee on Thursday, March 30. The plays to be presented by The Miller-Bryan Co. are all new to local theater goers and are said to be staged in an exceptionally lavish manner. Several new and novel specialties will be introduced between acts, making the performances continuous. A Thursday night one lady will be admitted free with each paid reserved seat ticket if reserved at the theater box office previous to 5 p. m. Owing to the popularity of this organization, patrons are requested to secure seats early Wednesday morning.

Charles Frohman, who is in London, declares his intention to take Seymour Hicks and Ellaline Terriss to America for a season, where they will be supported by the best musical comedy company that can be secured. The manager will introduce "Leah Kleschna" to London about Easter. He has another comedy from the pen of J. M. Barrie.

MUCH DELAYED.

Lighthouse Tender Was Due in December Last.

The government lighthouse tender Goldenrod is coming down on her inspection trip. This trip will be about 1900 miles in length, and will send the boat up to the headwaters of the Kentucky, Wabash, Green, White, Salt, Cumberland and Tennessee rivers. During the trip all of the lighthouse tenders will receive their semi-annual salaries, and they will be supplied with oil to maintain lights until next season. In the meantime a survey will be made of the river, and some changes will be made as to the location of part of the beacon lights, while many will be added to the service.

The Goldenrod is very late this time. She was due in December but was delayed by low water and later by ice.

The Wings of the Morning

By LOUIS TRACY

Copyright, 1903, by Edward J. Clode

He could now see the true explanation of its growth in a seemingly impossible place. Here the bed of the sea bulged upward in a small sand cay, which tilted round the base of a limestone rock as different in color and formation from the coral reef. Nature, whose engineering contrivances can force springs to mountain tops, managed to deliver to this isolated refuge a sufficient supply of water to nourish the palm, and the roots, firmly lodged in deep crevices, were well protected from the waves.

Between the sailor and the tree intervened a small stretch of shallow water. Landward this submerged saddle shelved steeply into the lagoon. Although the water in the cove was twenty fathoms in depth, its crystal clearness was remarkable. The bottom, composed of marvelously white sand and broken coral, rendered other objects conspicuous. He could see plenty of fish, but not a single shark, while on the inner slope of the reef was plainly visible the destroyed fore part of the Sirdar, which had struck beyond the tree, relatively to his present standpoint. He had wondered why no boats were cast ashore. Now he saw the reason. Three of them were still fastened to the davits and carried down with the hull.

Seaward the water was not so clear. The waves created patches of foam, and long submarine plants swayed gently in the undercurrent.

To reach Palm Tree rock—anticipating its subsequent name—he must cross a space of some thirty feet and wade up to his waist.

He made the passage with ease.

Pitched against the bole of the tree was a long, narrow case, very heavy, iron clamped and marked with letters in black triangles and the broad arrow of the British government.

"Rifles, by all the gods!" shouted the sailor.

The Sirdar carried a consignment of arms and ammunition from Hongkong to Singapore. Providence had decreed that a practically inexhaustible store of cartridges should be hurled across the lagoon to the island. And here were rifles enough to equip half a company. He would not risk the precious arms in an attempt to open the case. He must go back for a crowbar.

What else was there in this storehouse thrust by Neptune from the ocean bed? A chest of tea, seemingly undamaged; three barrels of flour, utterly ruined; a saloon chair, smashed from its pivot; a battered chronometer. For the rest, fragments of timber intermingled with pulverized coral and broken crockery.

A little farther on the deep water entrance to the lagoon curved between sunken rocks. On one of them rested the Sirdar's huge funnel. The northwest section of the reef was bare. Among the wreckage he found a coil of stout rope and a pulley. He instantly conceived the idea of constructing an aerial line to ferry the chest of tea across the channel he had forded.

He threaded the pulley with the rope and climbed the tree, adding a touch of artistic completeness to the ruin of his trousers by the operation. He had fastened the pulley high up the trunk before he realized how much more simple it would be to break open the chest where it lay and transport its contents in small parcels.

He laughed lightly. "I am becoming addle-headed," he said to himself. "Anyhow, now the job is done, I may as well make use of it."

Recoiling the rope ends, he cast them across to the reef. In such small ways do men throw invisible dice with death. With those two lines he would win a few fleeting seconds drag himself back from eternity.

Picking up the ax, he carelessly stepped into the water, not knowing that Iris, having watched the incipient sage into a fat pancake, had strolled to the beach and was watching him.

The water was hardly above his knees when there came a swirling rush from the seaward. A long tentacle shot out like a lasso and gripped his right leg. Another coiled around his waist. "My God!" he gasped as a horrid sucker closed over his mouth and nose. He was in the grip of a devilfish!

A deadly sensation of nausea almost overpowered him, but the love of life came to his aid and he tore the suffocating feeder from his face. Then the ax whirled, and one of the eight arms of the octopus lost some of its length. Yet a fourth flung itself around his left ankle. A few feet away, out of range of the ax and lifting itself bodily out of the water, was the dread form of the cuttle, apparently all head, with distended gills and monstrous eyes.

The sailor's feet were planted wide apart. With frenzied effort he hacked at the monstrous tentacles, but the water hindered him, and he was forced to lean back in superhuman strain to avoid losing his balance. If once this terrible assailant got him down he knew he was lost. The very need to keep his feet prevented him from attempting to deal a mortal blow.

The cuttle was anchored by three of its tentacles. Its remaining arm darted with slithering activity to again clutch the man's face or neck. With the ax he snote madly at the curling feeder, diverting its aim time and again, but failing to deliver an effective stroke.

With agonized prescience the sailor knew that he was yielding. Were the devilish giant of its tribe he could not have held out so long. As it was, the creature could afford to wait, strengthening its grasp, tightening its coils, pulling and pumping at its prey with remorseless certainty.

He was nearly spent. In a paroxysm of despair he resolved to give way and with the mad effort seek to bury the ax in the monster's brain. But ere he could execute this fatal project, for the cuttle would have instantly swept him into the trailing weeds, five revolver shots rang out in quick succession. Iris had reached the nearest rock.

Its remaining arm darted to again clutch the man's face and neck.

The third bullet gave the octopus cause to reflect. It squirted forth a torrent of dark colored fluid. Instantly the water became black, opaque. The tentacles, flourishing in air, thrashed the surface with impotent fury. That around Jenks' waist grew faint and cold. The ax flashed with the inspiration of hope. Another arm was severed. The huge dismembered coil slackened and fell away.

Yet was he anchored immovably. He turned to look at Iris. She never forgot the fleeting expression of his face. So might Lazarus have looked from the tomb.

"The rope!" she screamed, dropping the revolver and seizing the loose ends lying at her feet.

She drew them tight and leaned back, pulling with all her strength. The sailor flung the ax to the rocks and grasped the two ropes. He raised himself and plunged wildly. He was free. With two convulsive strides he was at the girl's side.

He stumbled to a boulder and dropped in complete collapse. After a time he felt Iris' hand placed timidly on his shoulder. He raised his head and saw her eyes shining.

"Thank you," he said. "We are quits now."

CHAPTER VI.

FERCE emotions are necessarily transient, but for the hour they exhaust the psychic capacity. The sailor had gone through such mental stress before it was yet noon that he was benumbed, wholly incapable of further sensation.

Being in good condition, he soon recovered his physical powers. He was outwardly little the worse for the encounter with the devilfish. The skin around his mouth was sore. His waist and legs were bruised. One sweep of the ax had cut clean through the bulging leather of his left boot without touching the flesh. In a word, he was practically uninjured.

He had the foglike habit of shaking himself at the close of a fray. He did so now when he stood up. Iris showed clearer signs of the ordeal. Her face was drawn and haggard, the pupils of her eyes dilated. She was gazing into depths illimitable, unexplored. Compassion awoke at sight of her.

"Come," said Jenks gently. "Let us get back to the island."

He quietly resumed predominance, helping her over the rough pathway of the reef, almost lifting her when the difficulties were great.

He did not ask her how it happened that she came so speedily to his assistance. Enough that she had done it, daring all for his sake. She was weak and trembling.

Reaching the firm sand, she could walk alone.

"Did—the thing—grip you?" she nervously inquired.

"All over at once, it felt like. The beast attacked me with five arms."

She shuddered. "I don't know how you could fight it," she said. "How strong, how brave, you must be!"

This amused him. "The veriest coward will try to save his own life," he answered. "If you use such adjectives to me, what words can I find to do justice to you, who dared to come close to such a vile looking creature and kill it. I must thank my stars that you carried the revolver."

"Ah!" she said. "That reminds me. You do not practice what you preach. I found your pistol lying on the stone in the cave. That is one reason why I followed you."

It was quite true. He laid the weapon aside when delying at the rock and forgot to replace it in his belt. "It was stupid of me," he admitted, "but I am not sorry."

"Why?"

"Because, as it is, I owe you my life."

"You owe me nothing," she snapped. "It is very thoughtless of you to run such risks. What will become of me if anything happens to you? My point of view is purely selfish, you see."

"Quite so. Purely selfish." He smiled sadly. "Selfish people of your type are somewhat rare, Miss Deane."

She moved toward the cave, but he cried:

"Wait one minute. I want to get a couple of crowbars."

"What for?"

"I must go back there." He jerked his head in the direction of the reef. She uttered a little sob of dismay.

"I will incur no danger this time," he explained. "I found rifles there. We must have them; they may mean salvation."

When Iris was determined about anything her chin dimpled. It puckered delightfully now.

"I will come with you," she announced.

"Very well. I will wait for you. The tide will serve for another hour."

He knew he had decided rightly. She could not bear to be alone—yet. Soon the crowbars were secured, and they returned to the reef. Scrambling now with difficulty over the rough and dangerous track, Iris was secretly amazed by the remembrance of the daring activity she displayed during her earlier passage along the same precarious roadway.

Then she darted from rock to rock with the fearless certainty of a chamois. Her only stumble was caused, she recollected, by an absurd effort to avoid wetting her dress. She laughed nervously when they reached the place. This time Jenks lifted her across the intervening channel.

They were standing on the landward side of the shallow water in which he fought the octopus.

STRANGE ADVICE!

Dr. O. C. Green gives alert personal attention to his great humanitarian contract.

In our Almanac for many years past we have given unusual advice to those afflicted with coughs, colds, throat or lung troubles or consumption. We have told them if they did not receive any special benefit after the use of one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup, to consult their doctor. We did not ask them or urge them to use a large number of bottles, as is the case in the advertising of many other remedies. Our confidence in German Syrup makes it possible for us to give such advice. We know by the experience of over 35 years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchitis or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. "BONITA" WEDS

They Have a Number of Friends on This Circuit—Wedding at Pittsburg.

The following from the Pittsburg Press of Saturday, tells of the wedding and the pretty romance of Miss Carol Arden to the hero of "Arizona," in which the young lady appeared here recently. Miss Arden is well known here and has hosts of friends, who will read the following with much interest:

Few in the audience had the least idea that Carol Arden and Francis Justice were the principals of a romance of more than ordinary interest, which culminated in a wedding here. Yesterday afternoon this couple were united in marriage by the Rev. A. W. Arundel of Pittsburg, and this brought to light a pretty story. When Miss Arden and Justice were children they resided in the same town and were playmates. Their childhood days were spent together, but when they grew to maturity they were separated by the course of events. Both adopted the stage as a profession, but drifted apart. About seven months ago, when the players were signed for "Arizona," the cast included the names of Francis Justice and Miss Carol Arden. Old acquaintance was renewed and quickly ripened into love, with the happy result. They seemed to play with increased ardor last evening. Carol Arden, who essayed the role of Bonita Canby, is pretty, dainty and vivacious and made a most excellent impression. Francis Justice, as Lieutenant Denton, was a typical lover. In the stellar roles both made a big hit and received round after round of applause. It is seldom that such difficult roles are portrayed in such true style, and the audience showed its appreciation of their efforts.

Cured Consumption.

Mrs. B. W. Evans, Charwater, Kan., writes: "My husband lay sick for three months. The doctors said he had quick consumption. We procured a bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, and it cured him. That was six years ago and since then we have always kept a bottle in the house. We cannot do without it. For coughs and colds it has no equal." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Use Shoffner's Sure Cure

The Great Tonic and Blood Purifier—Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Catarrh.

It is a trite and true saying that the "blood is the life." Now where does the blood come from? Everybody knows, or should know, that it comes from the nutritive elements extracted by the stomach from the food we eat. If the digestive organs do not perform their functions by reason of disease germs, there is no nutrition extracted, and the food might better be thrown in the dump to decay and breed germs in the open air than to remain in the stomach and become a rotten, putrid mass, as it naturally does if there is no digestion. No disease germ can live and find lodgment in a human body that uses the Shoffner's Sure Cure. Price $1.00.

What People Say of the Shoffner's Sure Cure.

PADUCAH, Ky., March 5, 1903.

To Whom It May Concern: This is to certify that I was a sufferer with indigestion for five years and could get no relief until I bought one bottle of Shoffner's Sure Cure, and it helped me so much that I took six bottles, and it has cured me sound and well, thanks to the Shoffner's Sure Cure.

Mrs. JOHN SMEDLEY, 806 S. Third St.

This is to certify that I believe the Shoffner's Sure Cure saved my life. I was not able to sit up in bed when I began taking the remedy. I had such a severe cough I thought I had consumption. Physicians had given me up to die. After taking one bottle I was able to sit up some. After using five bottles I was fully restored to health. I cannot say enough in favor of this wonderful remedy for indigestion.

MRS. SUE GRAHAM, Moscow, Ky.

If after using one bottle according to directions you are not benefited, your money will be refunded.

KENTUCKY NEWS TOLD IN PARAGRAPHS

Big Barn Burned.
Mayfield, Ky., March 28.—The large stock barn of Clarence Pile, of near Fanny Farm, burned Sunday morning about daylight. The barn was worth about $600 and there was only $350 worth of insurance on it. He also lost about 20,000 pounds of hay, 350 barrels of corn, wagon and all farming implements.

Friends at Work.
Louisville, Ky., March 28.—Since the court of appeals has refused a rehearing for George B. Warner, sentenced to death for the murder of Pulaski Leeds, superintendent of machinery for the Louisville and Nashville railroad, the friends of the condemned man have redoubled their efforts to secure a commutation of sentence for him. They have had a petition in circulation for sometime. Attorney Jacob Sollinger of the defense, says they expect to have no less than 20,000 names to it when it goes to the governor. The members of labor organizations in Louisville and Kentucky are all expected to sign it.

Warner's defense for shooting Leeds was that he had been black-listed by the Louisville and Nashville railroad, and was temporarily insane because he had lost his employment.

Deaths in Graves.
Mayfield, Ky., March 28.—Mrs. Will McDonald, of near Mohundro's grocery, is dead. The deceased was the daughter of Mr. W. H. Stevens, formerly of Tennessee, and was only 16 years of age. She and her babe were buried in the same grave.

The little one year old daughter of Prof. Austin, of Dublin, died of brain fever.

Seriously Sick.
Louisville, Ky., March 28.—Colonel Fred De Funiak, one of the best known residents of Louisville, is seriously ill of heart trouble. Colonel De Funiak, who is 65 years of age, was born in Rome, and was educated as an engineer. He worked for the Turkish government, but coming to the United States at the beginning of the civil war, enlisted in the engineering corps of the Confederate army. He was wounded and taken to the home of Miss Browning in Memphis. Their acquaintance resulted in marriage. Col. De Funiak later became chief engineer of the Louisville and Nashville railroad during President Stanford's administration. When the Westinghouse air brake was invented he foresaw its success and invested all he had in the company, realizing a fortune.

Both May Die.
Somerset, Ky., March 28.—Mack Tale went to call on Miss Minerva Dobson, a young woman of Town Hall, a suburb of Somerset. She declined to receive him, and when he tried to force his attentions on her she seized a revolver and opened fire, shooting him through the abdomen. Tale, enraged, wrenched the revolver from her grasp and shot her in both arms and the head. Both will probably die.

Uninsured Home Burned.
Hopkinsville, Ky., March 28.—The residence of James S. Jobe, of Bennettstown, was destroyed by fire, caused by a defective flue. Loss about $1,000; no insurance.

Old Flag Returned.
Frankfort, Ky., March 28.—Gov. Beckham has received from the Military Secretary of War, Washington, the old flag of the Sixth Kentucky infantry, C. S. A. This flag was carried by the late Capt. Porter Thompson, historian of the Orphan Brigade, who served under Gen. Lewis, and left on the battlefield when Capt. Thompson was wounded. It will be used at the Louisville reunion and carried by old veterans. The flag was returned under congressional action.

His Job Safe.
Washington, March 28.—There is excellent reason for saying there will be no change in the collectorship of the Seventh revenue district of Kentucky headquarters at Lexington. A Kentucky republican, who is believed to be well informed on the subject, said that he knew with practical positiveness there was no intention to remove Collector Sam J. Roberts.

Murder Trial Begins.
Owingsville, Ky., March 28.—In the Lee county circuit court at Beattyville the case comes up for trial of the commonwealth vs. William John Swanson, charged with the murder of Lewis Mays, who mysteriously disappeared from home last September, and whose dead body was found by Miss Josie Townsend in a deep ravine near the home of William Flinchum, where it had been thrown by the murderer. The Flinchums and Swanson are typical mountaineers. Sensational developments are expected.

ATROCIOUS DEED OF DEPRAVED MOTHER

gan coughing and I secured some coal oil which I gave them to ease their throats. I placed the morphine in the coal oil, because Albritton told me it meant a painless death, and you know the rest."

With this the woman dropped her head and remained silent. She admitted the confession in the presence of witnesses and was then conveyed to the jail from the home of Constable A. C. Shelton, about two squares from Mrs. Brockwell's house, where the mother had been kept since the tragedy.

Albritton Arrested.
Detective Will Baker, immediately after the woman was taken to jail, started out after Albritton and apprehended him on the Hoverkamp farm about four miles out on the Benton road. Albritton was working when arrested and took his seizure with great surprise. He is a young farm hand, only 21 years of age, of honest face and manner.

"My name is George Albritton, and I am from Hickman, Fulton county, Ky.," he stated to a reporter, "and have been working about Paducah about a year. I have been in Paducah only about two months—this when I worked at the mills and boarded at Mrs. Brockwell's house. I deny that I asked her or in any way suggested the killing of her children, but did three weeks ago quit boarding at her home because it took all the money I made to support the family and I told her this when I left. I explained to her that I would have to quit and three weeks ago Sunday left her house and have never been in conversation with her since. I will not deny that I have lived with Mrs. Brockwell as I would a wife, but I am not the only person who did, and she thinks more of several fellows than of me."

Albritton talks freely and impresses all with his apparent honesty.

The Woman's Answer.
When told of Albritton's story, Mrs. Brockwell denied that she had acted in any way indiscreet with him, but says he did ask her to rid herself of three of her infants and he would marry her, would, moreover, furnish the money for a divorce. She failed to state why he wanted three killed and not all of the children. She stated that his leaving her house and the poverty she was thrown into by having to work harder to put bread into the mouths of her little ones, caused her much mental anguish and completely upset her—so much so that she bought the drug and administered it to her babies. She says she is addicted to the use of chewing tobacco and snuff and at times had a lapse of memory when she cannot remember anything, and thinks she was irresponsible when she administered the drug, although she can remember everything connected with the poisoning, even the fact that the children turned over, scratched their necks and thought something was biting them. She says her daughter Hazel heard on one occasion Albritton ask her to do away with three of her children.

Had No Preference.
"No, I had no preference, and had I have had any more morphine than what I thought was enough to kill the three of my little ones, I would have administered it to Hazel, my living child, and myself, too," Mrs. Brockwell declared when asked why she selected the oldest child to live. "I do not love Albritton, but thought if he would marry me, I might have to work less. I love my husband, but he is in the asylum and cannot help support the family."

Dr. B. T. Hall's Story.
Dr. B. T. Hall, the minister-physician, has been acquainted with Mrs. Brockwell since she was born, having attended her mother at the birth of Mrs. Brockwell. He gives her a good name, but thinks she is very ignorant, possibly mentally unbalanced. Mrs. Brockwell's maiden name was Mary Fletcher, of Symonia, Graves county. She is the daughter of Pat Fletcher, and is 29 years old. She married young—12 years ago—and had been living in Paducah about three years. She married Plenny Brockwell, a celebrated watermelon raiser of Graves county, who left farming and came to Paducah to work in mills three years ago. He became mentally unbalanced and went to the asylum several months ago. Since that time the wife struggled along to support herself and family and was often the object of local charity. Dr. Hall stated that he did not recognize her at first, when he was present Saturday at the autopsy, but on leaving she spoke to him and he recognized her.

"You may say that she is a woman of good morals, or had been so until she reached Paducah," Dr. Hall stated, "but I do not consider her very bright—in fact she is a little below the average in intelligence. She came of good people, however, and the affair is a surprise to me."

Dr. Vize Denies.
Detective Moore and Baker visited the Vize drug store in Mechanicsburg Saturday morning and asked if any drug had been purchased by the Brockwell woman, or any other person, and the proprietor denied that there had been. In fact he had no record of the sale alleged to have been made to Mrs. Brockwell, and when she was being taken to the jail in a cab yesterday afternoon was taken by the drug store and confronted by the druggist.

"Do you know this woman?" Detective Moore asked Dr. Vize. "I don't believe I do," was the reply, but he had hardly gotten the words out of his mouth when Mrs. Brockwell spoke to him, and when asked if she recognized him, replied that it was Dr. Vize. "Did you sell Mrs. Brockwell any drug of any kind on Friday afternoon about two o'clock, or at any time in the afternoon?" the pharmacist was asked, to which he replied in the negative.

"Mrs. Brockwell," the detective asked, turning to the woman, "did you buy anything from Dr. Vize on Friday afternoon, and if so state what it was."

"I bought ten cents worth of morphine from Dr. Vize on Friday afternoon about two o'clock, I think it was," she answered, and with that the cab was driven off to take her to jail.

The officers have thus far secured no evidence that Mrs. Brockwell bought the poison of Dr. Vize, except her own statement, and Dr. Vize denies it.

Albritton's Career.
Albritton came from Hickman, Ky., and for the past year has been working about farms in the county, being employed last by Mr. Henry Hoverkamp. He says he lived with Mrs. Brockwell about one month and she always seemed to be a sensible woman who cared for all her children alike, although she did not take much pains to keep them clean. He stated that he had never been in jail before and this was the first trouble of any kind he was ever in.

Wants to Go to Funeral.
"They promised to take me down and let me see my babies today, but they have not done so yet," said Mrs. Mary Brockwell to a Sun reporter this morning.

"Do you expect to go to the funeral?" "I want to go to the funeral. It is my desire to see them laid away." At this juncture the prisoner's eyes became moist, and she was on the verge of bursting into tears, when two ladies appeared in the jail reception room, where she sat. Mrs. Brockwell placed her hand over her eyes and did not remove it until they left.

Mrs. Brockwell stated this morning that she wanted to see her dead babies and would like to attend the funeral if permitted. She also wants to dispose of everything she has in her house and buy a nice dress and her wishes will doubtless be carried out. Mrs. Brockwell has been visited today by many ladies, but will talk little, covering her face when they approach her. In talking to men she is different, however, and can talk without emotion.

This afternoon Detectives Baker and Moore are with the mother again securing additional evidence against others said to be implicated in the matter. The authorities have not decided whether or not to allow her to attend the funeral.

Hazel Brockwell Located.
Last night the whereabouts of Hazel, the only living child of the inhuman mother, could not be located, but this morning Constable Shelton found her and carried her to his home in Mechanicsburg. She will be detained at his home for the purpose of a witness, but it is understood the Charity club has secured a good home for her.

The little girl denies that she ever heard Albritton make any promises to her mother in the way of marriage, and denies that she heard him say he would marry her if she would get rid of three of her children. Mrs. Brockwell, however, last night told a Sun reporter that her daughter Hazel did on one occasion hear Albritton make such a statement, and this afternoon the secret service men will talk with the girl again and ascertain the facts, if possible.

The Sun's Scoop.
The Sun scored a clean scoop on its afternoon contemporary yesterday afternoon, having the facts and material details of Mrs. Brockwell's confession in its first and only edition. The Sun reporter was present when the confession was signed, of course. It takes but one edition for the Sun to give the news.

Lingered Too Long.
St. Petersburg, March 28.—Some Russian military experts are inclined to believe that Gen. Linevitch has relied too much on making preparations to resist the Japanese at Sugari river without taking into calculation the forced march across the country could be undertaken so as to give the Japanese a chance to trap him.

self with Japan, but that as far as Great Britain and Japan are concerned there is nothing to prevent a permanent offense and defensive alliance, which the Daily Telegraph contends might even induce Japan to forego indemnity and which by placing at Great Britain's disposal in India the service of Japan's fine troops would forever remove the apprehension of Russian invasion of India.

The Daily Telegraph further says that such a treaty, which would date from the conclusion of peace, would, with the moral support of the United States behind it, be a guarantee of the preservation of peace in the far east, the open door in China and the development of trade for all nations in the Orient.

Russia herself, the article says, would reap advantages in her enormous empire which only requires exploration and development.

Jews Being Persecuted.
Berlin, March 28.—Dispatches from Moscow state that the authorities there are enforcing to the fullest, severity the laws against the Jews. As a result of this strict enforcement cruelties are practiced upon the victims. There are now many wounded Jewish soldiers in the hospitals of Moscow brought back from Manchuria. Relatives who have attempted to visit them are refused admittance because the laws require the exclusion of the Jew from Moscow.

A meeting of the directors of the Commercial club has been called for this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Palmer house. There is considerable business to transact, but it is not known how much of it will be taken up.

"DADDY" RYAN'S WIFE
Died Within a Few Months of Her Husband.

Louisville, Ky., March 28.—Mrs. Isabella A. Edmonston Ryan, wife of the late William, "Daddy" Ryan, is dead. Death resulted of pneumonia after a week's illness. Mrs. Ryan was in her 72d year and had been the wife of William Ryan 53 years. Her death occurred on the same day of the week as did that of her husband, who died November 13.

Her husband, "Daddy" Ryan, was a 33d degree Mason and held many offices in the grand lodge. He was one of the best known citizens of Louisville and was one of those rare "young old men." His gray locks and ruddy, smiling face won him a place close to the hearts of those who knew him.

Mrs. Ryan, like her husband, looked at life with young eyes, and until saddened by the death of her husband, was a favorite companion of young people.
